FLOODS REACH SOUTH TEXAS

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 9.—From Hempstead, where a score of people drowned yesterday, down through Bryan, where more than 1,500 suffering country folks are being succored, clear to Victoria, at the Gulf, where 800 men are toiling to save the canal levee, the Brazos-Colorado floods are now apparently at their highest over the last part of South Texas they will pass through.

The fear of famine, freezing and the dread of disease occupy the minds of people who are hemmed on knolls, lodged in trees and huddled in gin houses.

Last night brought the known dead list up to 150, with rumors and reports of far greater numbers of fatalities.

The cities and towns of Texas are pouring, as from a horn of plenty, train loads of supplies that are precious in the flood district now.

There are many stories of heroism and sacrifice. One of the most pathetic comes from Bryan, where three young men who went out to save others died of exposure in a treetop. They were Howard Cavitt, an automobile dealer; Clifford Elzie, a machinist, and A. J. Robbins, a jeweler. A fourth member of the party, Tom Evans, survived the ordeal of thirty hours, but swooned away after telling his story to his rescuers, two negroes.

At Sealey the "spirit of Galveston" spread like a protecting hand over the troubled waters of the mad Brazos, and those on Ross Mound were succored.

The lifeboats of the army transports sent from Galveston Sunday night by the quartermaster's department struggled among the vicious currents of the flood, and ninety-seven people were taken from perilous positions.

Thirty more would have been carried to points beyond the cold fingers of the rising tide if they had accepted the invitation. Though in danger, some decided to stay and look after their live stock.

There were many alarming stories of tragedies, misery and want.

In North Texas conditions are rapidly approaching normal, and the only danger points due to the flood are now in the southern part of the state.

COURT ACCEPTS RESIGNATION OF FRISCO RECEIVER

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 6.—The resignation of H. West, receiver of the Frisco railroad, was accepted today by Judge Sanborn of the federal circuit court.

West was one of the members of the syndicate of ninety-nine that promoted the Brownsville road and sold it to the Frisco.

West's resignation was written December 3, but Judge Sanborn waited that the question "might be deliberately considered."

West in his letter of resignation invited a full inquiry into the affairs of the railroad.

REVOLUTIONISTS IN CHIHUAHUA

Juarez, Mex., Dec. 8.—Assuming military command over a large area of Northern Mexico through the defeat and flight of Federal troops, Gen. Francisco Villa, the revolutionist leader, today formally occupied Chihuahua, the state capital, evacuated by Gen. Mercado, eight days ago.

An official report of the occupation of the city was received at military headquarters here through a message carried by courier to Sauz, a point thirty miles north of Chihuahua, and thence by telegraph.

Villa himself occupied the quarters vacated by Gen. Mercado. The troops were placed in the garrison and the executive branch of the army occupied the state capitol.

The dispatch to Gen. Benavides, commander at Juarez, said Villa's entry into the city was attended by an ovation, but no ceremony.

The citizens, who have been under numerous sieges and long had been isolated without fresh food supplies, welcomed the new commander as an event which promised an early reopening of the railroad and telegraph lines. The feeling prevailed that Villa now was in position to restore the northern section of Mexico to a period of peace, since the Federal troops by their voluntary evacuation of the territory, had evinced no desire to continue fighting at least for the present.

Gen. Villa received what he called the surrender of the city from Federico Moya, who was appointed civil governor ad interim by Mercado, as being affiliated with no party and therefore as friendly to both sides. Gov. Moya issued a proclamation, however, stating that he had been commissioned by Mercado to turn the city over to Villa, thus delaying the actual surrender of the city until Mercado and his troops could get away.

So far as appearances went, Villa's arrival in the city made no immediate change, for Gen. Chao, another leader, with several thousand men already had been there. Only the usual announcement for a change of government by the ringing of church bells and the blowing of trumpets occurred.

Nineteen years ago Villa fled as a fugitive from the city which he entered in triumph today. He had been ordered arrested on a warrant charging him with having killed an army officer. He was henceforth hunted as a bandit. His brief career as a leader after he had served in Madero's revolution began five months ago with a borrowed revolver and thus led him to a position where he may issue commands from the state capital where he was ordered arrested.

While he will be engaged in guarding his communication with Juarez against a possible federal attack, Villa said he would lose no time in preparing for his proposed campaign southward, which he said would extend to the City of Mexico.

Interest in Ritchie-Murphy Bout.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 9.—It is a long time since the sporting public of San Francisco has displayed such a lively interest in a boxing contest as is manifested in the bout to take place at Cofroth's arena tomorrow night between Willie Ritchie, the lightweight champion, and Harlem Tommy Murphy, who is admittedly one of the worthiest fighters who could be selected to contend for the title. Both fighters have hosts of admirers here and their meeting is expected to attract a record-breaking crowd to the ringside. The two fighters concluded their work of training today and each appears to be in excellent trim for the battle. The articles call for a twenty-round contest, the fighters to make 135 pounds an hour before the gong calls them into the ring.

Each member of Uncle Sam's family had just one chance out of two of getting a cantaloup from the Imperial Valley. From the 6,000 acres in that valley devoted to cantaloup culture fifty million "cants" were this year marketed, selling for the lump sum of $2,335,000—five cents apiece, and netting the growers about $100 per acre. It would have required a train of refrigerator cars thirty miles long to hold the crop.

National Aid for Schools.

Supt. C. W. Richards of the Ardmore schools was in Shawnee, Saturday, where he was invited to address the teachers of the Pottawatomie county schools. He presented his plan of federal aid for the common schools to the teachers of that section of the state, and they were as much elated over the plans as have the teachers been at Ada, Hugo, Ardmore and Madill. In these addresses which he makes from time to time over the state, he is spreading the doctrine and a nucleus for a national campaign is forming that will most likely result in great good to pupils and teachers of the whole country.—Ardmoreite

CURRENCY BILL ON ROAD TO PASSAGE

Washington, Dec. 8.—With the debate on the currency bill under way in earnest, Democratic Senate leaders tonight grew optimistic and expressed the belief that the measure would be passed well before the Christmas holidays. Some of the administration supporters even declared they hoped for a final vote on the bill before the senate adjourned next Saturday night, and it was considered practically certain that Congress would be in a position to take the usual holiday recess from about Dec. 20 to Jan. 5.

The currency debate progressed rapidly today and cleared the atmosphere materially. Senator Swanson of Virginia made a lengthy argument in support of the Administration bill, and by a criticism of the conduct of the New York banks during the 1907 panic drew replies from Senators O'Gorman of New York and Weeks of Massachusetts. Senator Nelson of Minnesota, one of the Republicans of the Banking Committee, began a speech in support of the bill presented by the Republican wing of the committee. He will continue tomorrow.

At tonight's session Senator Weeks' reply to Senator Swanson resulted in a free-for-all discussion of the measure on both sides of the chamber.

No disposition to deploy or unduly prolong debate was evidenced on the Republican side. A belief that the regular holiday recess would be taken was made apparent on the house side by the passage of the usual resolution for the payment of House employees on Dec. 20, instead of Dec. 31.

DAMAGE TO OKLAHOMA COTTON OVERESTIMATED

That damage done to Oklahoma cotton by the drouth of 1913 was far overestimated, not only by pessimists but by conservative cotton experts is shown by the sixth cotton ginning report of the census bureau up to December 1. This authoritative report shows Oklahoma had ginned 761,439 bales up to December 1. Many conservatives had estimated the entire yield at 600,000 bales only, while those most pessimistically inclined declared not over five hundred thousand bales would be the harvest. The report shows Oklahoma's damage less than that of Texas, the greatest cotton state of the union.

The following table show how the Oklahoma ginnings to date compare with those of corresponding dates in former years:

1912	869,273
1911	783,989
1906	505,584

The Shawnee News-Herald is becoming a real metropolitan sheet, issuing an eight page, seven column paper every day and with twelve pages in the Sunday edition. Another step forward will be taken Sunday when a four page comic supplement will be made a feature. The advertising patronage of the paper is also growing steadily from which it is inferred that Shawnee business men are taking on new life and are determined to keep trade at home. If they keep up the present stroke the old town will soon begin to spread out over a good deal more of the map than it covers now.

SYMBOLISM IN INDIAN MYTHOLOGY

(By Prof. E. A. McMillian)

As far as civilized man has been able to learn every Indian tribe has, at some period in their history, been firm believers in some form of mythology, and usually that belief in mythical existence has been the base of secret societies.

The great Siouan family, of which there are three tribes in Oklahoma, viz: the Osages, Poncas and Kansas still continue to practice the cults of their ancestors. The Osages, however, are fast losing knowledge of "the Mysteries." The Old men, of the Osage tribe still hold to the ancient cult, but the younger men seem to possess no knowledge along that line.

The "Mysteries" are wholly symbolical. They do not believe their ancestors were really animals, birds or reptiles as their traditions or myths state, but that they are merely symbols of the higher power which they believe is in the sky.

Their ceremonies of conveying knowledge of the mysteries were very similar to that of the Quapaws, Omahas, Otoes, Missourians and Winnebagoes and as far as can be conjectured has some similarity to the Choctaws, Seminoles and Creeks.

Men who have passed through the ceremonies and received all the seven degrees are readily distinguished from those not so fortunate by tattoo marks on the throat and chest and those marks indicated the degree of efficiency of the wearer.

The full tattooed surface, representing all the degrees was a complete chart of the Osages myth of creation

The spirits of the unborn were supposed to inhabit that region, but their myths shed but little light on the prehistoric beliefs of the tribe.

The ceremonies were elaborate and lengthy. Each candidate must learn thoroughly each step before permission was granted to continue in the work for the mythology of the tribe and its future spiritual beliefs were in the hands of those who were taught the mysteries.

ColMosby's 80th Birthday.

Washington D. C. Dec. 9.—Col. John Singleton Mosby, the much-famed chief of the guerrilla raiders in civil war time, celebrated his eightieth birthday anniversary today. Of late years Col. Mosby has made his home the most of the time with his daughter in this city. Several years ago he underwent an operation and since that time his health has not been of the best; though he is still remarkably vigorous for a man of his years and continues to take keen interest in the affairs of the day.

Born Edge mont, Va., December 6, 1833, Col. Mosby was practicing law at Bristol when the civil war began. He enlisted immediately in the Confederate army, and with the exception of a short time when he was disabled by a wound, he served continuously until Lee's surrender. The part he played in the big struggle made the Union commanders he harassed wish that he had never turned his attention to the art of war. His raid on the rear of McClellan's army on the Chickahominy was as bold a bit of enterprise as may be read in the history of warfare.

Mosby's famous "rangers" were as picturesque and brave and cavalier a lot of fighters as ever went to war. No body of Confederate soldiers were feared as were Mosby's men, and the colonel was their genius. After Appomattox Col. Mosby disbanded his troop and gave himself up, and upon the recommendation of Gen Grant was released on parole.

THERE WILL BE NO INVASION OF MEXICO

(By Congressman C. H. Tavenner)

Washington, Dec. 9.—In today's letter I want to set the people straight on the much misrepresented Mexican situation.

There is to be no invasion of Mexico by American troops. Armed intervention in Mexico would mean war positively, and therefore President Wilson has no more intention of permitting it than he has of going to the top of Washington Monument and leaping off.

To put the situation in still another way: There will be no war unless you, and you, and you, readers, and 90 per cent of all the rest of the citizens of the United States, demand war. Things would have to come to a pass where there would be such good reasons for war that the people would simply compel the president to act before he would yield.

Who in the world desires armed intervention in Mexico, anyway? you ask. There are a few large city yellow journals that want intervention and many rich Americans having money invested in Mexico, who want it. Of recent years their Mexican investment have not been paying the usual dividends because of the almost continuous revolutions, and this comparative handful of rich men would like to have American soldiers sent to Mexico to be used as policemen to guard their properties.

Why should the lives of American soldiers be sacrificed and the people's treasure wasted in protecting "the property rights" of those of our citizens who have gone beyond our borders, have "taken a chance" on the laws and conditions beyond our control?

It would make little difference to these men how many lives of American soldiers might be snuffed out in such an enterprise. All they desire is that their mines and plantations be protected so they may continue their exploitation project and their dividends may not be interfered with.

The cost of a war with Mexico would not be borne by these rich men, either, but would almost wholly fall upon the shoulders of the masses. The only funds the United States government has with which to finance a war, are those which have been raised by taxing the things the people must eat, wear and use, in order to live. Of all moneys in the treasury, 90 per cent has been collected from the common people.

When armed troops once cross the Rio Grande, no man is so wise that he can foretell when they will return, or what unexpected complications may set in before the conflict can end.

That all factions in Mexico would unite to resist armed intervention by the United States, and that armed intervention, therefore, would mean war there is little doubt.

Officials of the War Department believe that anywhere from 250,000 to 600,000 men would be necessary to maintain anything like peace in Mexico. The guerrilla warfare is the Mexican method of fighting. Every time the Americans would capture a city, however small it might be, sufficient troops would have to be left to hold it. Otherwise bands of Mexican fighters would return from the mountains and recapture it. The War Department well recognizes it would be necessary to have sufficient troops to police every part of Mexico at the same time, otherwise when peace was being enforced at one point, revolution would break out in another.

If American troops conquer the whole of Mexico, evacuation would become difficult, if possible at all. We would then have upon our hands a huge new territory with a large population in continuous revolt.

That war with Mexico would open this country to attack by any other hostile nation, should also be considered.

The American people can well afford in this matter to put their complete faith in the president. He is clear-headed. He is wise. He is true. Mr. Wilson is a really great President, one of the greatest we have ever had.

Birthday of Famous Exile.

London, Dec. 9.—In the little unpretending house in Brighton where he has made his home for some years Prince Kropotkin, once the terror of the Russian czar and government, quietly passed his seventy-first birthday today. The present existence of the famous nihilist is that of a student, and no one unacquainted with the facts would ever dream that the thoughtful, courteous old man who is to be seen daily about the streets of Brighton, was the dangerous fire-brand and revolutionary who had been expelled not only from his native Russia, but from France and Switzerland as well.

Kodak the Children as They Grow Up

The beauty of kodak pictures is their informality, you catch snapshots of children in movements that they do not suspect. Such pictures have a charm obtainable by no other means of photography.

ANOTHER SIDE—You know of course that memory is a poor thing to trust, in later years you will not be able to remember your children as they are today unless by aid of snapshots taken today.

90th Birthday of Admiral Upshur. Washington, D. C., Dec. 9:—A man who was a veteran of the navy before most of the present day naval officers were born is Rear Admiral John Upshur, who celebrated his ninetieth birthday anniversary today at his home in this city. After serving in the navy for several years Admiral Upshur entered the Annapolis academy and was graduated in 1848, in time to be present at the siege and capture of Vera Cruz. He accompanied the Perry expedition to Japan and later saw service in the South Atlantic and the Mediterranean. Throughout the civil war period he was actively employed. During the latter part of the war he commanded the flagship of the North Atlantic fleet and took part in the final bombardment and capture of Fort Fisher. In 1885 Admiral Upshur was retired on his own application, after nearly a half century of service in the navy.

Doctors Use This for Eczema

Dr. Evans, Commissioner of Health, says: "There is almost no relation between skin diseases and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs must be washed out, and so have long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of wintergreen thymol and other ingredients for eczema and all other skin diseases. This compound is known as D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema.

BLUNDERING BILLY DRAWS FAIR HOUSE

The repetition of the comedy, "Blundering Billy," by the high school pupils Monday evening was a highly creditable performance and drew a fair sized house, although not all it really merited. Something over $25 was realized from it.

Ralph Smith as Ezra Tuttle, the wealthy ranchman who was trying to break into society, rendered his part in a manner that would have done credit to one much older than himself.

Ferdie Gull as Blundering Billy was very much at home and the real Billy could not have carried off his part more perfectly.

Prof. French as Lieut. Griswald, the villain of the play, if it may be said to have one, was up to his usual high standard as an actor.

Miss Ruth Gibson as Dorothy Tuttle, who had a hard time in defeating her father's plan to marry her to the lieutenant as a means of breaking into society, proved herself a splendid impersonator and her part was rendered most gracefully. As the leading lady of the play she was a complete success.

Miss Christina Herriott as Mrs. Clarissa Durham, the dashing grass widow who had designs on the heart and pocketbook of Ezra Tuttle, was indeed charming and her rendition of the part could not have been improved upon.

Miss Lucile Littlefield as Woyo San, the Japanese maid was too winsome for anything.

Sherrod Roland as Hank Dibble, the old sailor, who added to Billy's troubles by a bad blunder, had his part down in splendid shape and certainly looked as well as acted his part to the letter.

Earnest Word as Sing Toy, the Chinese boy, likewise performed his part as well as could have been possible by anyone.

Special credit must be given Miss Murry Lucas and her orchestra for the splendid music rendered between the acts.

For a sensible Christmas present buy your wife, mother or sister a Singer Sewing machine is the thing. —W. C. Williams, Agent. 207-6t

NORMAL NOTES

Mr. Little, who has been teaching since the Thanksgiving recess is on the sick list.

We are glad to note that the Oklahoman has two of East Central's stars on its All-Normal team. The ones selected are Captain Roddie and Claude McMillan. The latter has been shifted to end on this mythical eleven while Boetick is given his old place at left half. We agree heartily with the Oklahoman with reference to the excellence of these players but would have left Claude in his position at quarter.

The opening of the new gymnasium next Friday night with the basketball doubleheader will be one of the most important events of the year. Basketball has always been one of the most popular sports in East Central and has always been supported most generously by townspeople and students, even when layed under unfavorable conditions. The usual excellence of the teams put out have warranted this support. Now with the best floor in the state on which to play and teams as good or better than ever before there is every reason to believe that the largest crowds in the history of the normal will attend the games. A season ticket is being sold for $1.75 that is good for eight games. In case a double header is played only one game is charged to the ticket. The single admission will usually be 35c though for the more important games 50c will be charged. Some of the attractions for the girls team will be Sherman, Texas, High School, Durant Normal, Kingfisher College and Oklahoma Methodist University. The boys will meet practically the same teams that they met in football in addition to the Tonkawa School of Technology, Atoka Y. M. C. A. and the Weatherford Normal. The doubleheader for Friday night is with Holdenville High and will start at 7:30. The admission will be 35c.

School will dismiss December 20th for the Christmas holidays and open again on Monday, January 5th. The calendar arranged for the year provided for only one week's holiday, but on account of the State Teachers' association at Tulsa on December 29th, 30th and 31st, it was thought best to give two weeks that the teachers might have opportunity to attend the meeting.

Would Put Down Test Well at Francis
W. H. Bowers, the oil man, who in company with M. L. Dalzell is putting down a well at Hugo, arrived at Francis Monday to confer with oil operators from Tulsa with reference to starting operations in this vicinity. No definite arrangement has yet been made with the Tulsa parties and Mr. Bowers returned to Hugo to remain a few days, or until the work is in such shape at Hugo so that he can leave Mr. Dalzell in charge and will then return to Francis.

Mr. Bowers informs us that if he could make a satisfactory deal with some one he and Mr. Dalzell will move their own machinery here and make a test themselves as soon as the well at Hugo is finished, which he expects will be in 20 or 30 days.—Wigwag.

ALL STAR NORMAL FOOTBALL TEAM

From the Oklahoman.

Center, Beach, Central.
Right guard, Wann, Southeastern.
Right tackle, Byrd, Central.
Right end, C. McMillan, East Central.
Quarterback, Dickerson, Southeastern.
Left halfback, Roddie, East Central.
Right halfback, Chitwood, Southeastern.
Fullback, Bateman, Southeastern.

For the first time in the history of Oklahoma, the normal schools arranged their schedules during the season just closed so as to decide conclusively which is the superior upon the grid iron. It is fitting, then, that an all-star normal school team should be chosen. While most of the decisive games were played on the east side of the state, the championship going to Southeastern, making it difficult for west side critics to see the teams in action frequently, the Oklahoman, anticipating the selection of an all-star team, has had a representative in the eastern field and a comparison of notes has resulted in the above selection.

William Durant of Laird's champions has been selected for the left end position because his playing has been superior to that of any other normal end. While C. McMillan of East Central has been switched from quarterback to fill the position on the other wing this action is taken because of the fact that McMillan would make a better end than any of the others remaining to be chosen from. At quarterback he was the star of the East Central team. At end he would make a fitting running mate for Durant.

Captain Sandefur from Northwestern and Captain Byrd from Central would make a strong pair of tackles. Sandefur was a member of the 1912 all-Oklahoma team, but was crowded out this year by the stars from Sooners and Stillwater. He probably is the best tackle in normal school ranks. Byrd was captain of the Central team last season and has been re-elected for the coming year.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. The sweet fragrance

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

For guards, Chambers of Central and Wann of Southeastern would make an aggressive combination. Both played tackle on their respective teams during the 1913 season.

Beach at center, has no superior in normal school ranks. He has played a good defensive game, his passes have been true and he is a born football player.

The speed of Dickerson of Southeastern undoubtedly entitles him to the call over Johnson of Central and C. McMillan of East Central. It is unfortunate for Johnson that, great normal player though he is, there is no place on the all-star eleven for him. Central owes a great deal of her good showing to his individual playing and his choice of plays.

Herrin and B. Myers of Central are others who deserve special mention in the consideration of a backfield, although neither could be chosen over Roddie of East Central and Captain Chitwood of Southeastern. Herrin is a grand brokenfield runner; Myers is better at bowling over his tackles, but the eastsiders combine both qualities and therefore have been selected.

In spite of the good work of Purdue of Central, McCain of East Central and Julian of Northwestern, Bateman of Southeastern has been given the fullback position. He easily is the best of the fullbacks. He is a good line plunger, a power in running interference and can heave passes far and sure. His defensive work has been superb and he was the life of the Southeastern team during its championship season. He has been chosen captain of the 1914 aggregation at Durant. He would make a good captain for the all-star eleven.

Season for Plum Puddings.

London, Dec. 9.—Every steamship departing from England nowadays has a large quantity of plum puddings included in its cargo. At this season every year tons of the Britishers' favorite pudding are sent out from London and find their way all over the world. Many are ordered as Christmas presents for friends in the United States. Many more go to Canada and to Australia, South Africa and other parts of the British empire. One London firm's Christmas exports of plum puddings are stated to amount to 350 tons.
